WHY TPCH?

Lead a premier gaming and hospitality destination in Washington State's Pacific Northwest, rooted in the heritage and values of the Port Gamble S'Klallam Tribe. This role offers the opportunity to elevate guest experiences, drive strong operational performance, and support Tribal economic vitality

THE COMMUNITY & TRIBE

The Port Gamble S'Klallam Tribe, known as the Strong People, has lived along the shores of the Puget Sound since time immemorial. The heart of the community is Little Boston—a vibrant village that honors tradition while embracing innovation. From canoe journeys and community gatherings to investment in education and enterprise, the Tribe's spirit of resilience and stewardship guides everything we do.

The Kingston and Hansville area blends small-town warmth with breathtaking scenery. Known as the "Gateway to the Olympic Peninsula," Kingston offers ferry access to Edmonds and Seattle, while nearby Hansville provides quiet beaches and sweeping coastal views. Residents enjoy farmers markets, art, live music, and community events that celebrate both Tribal and regional heritage. It's a place where you can lead with purpose and live with balance.
